Seer Tanapi: That is quite a surprise! You say that you felt the flames of Pa'agrio? Amazing! To tell you the truth, I wasn't very hopeful when I sent you to the Cave of Trials. These days, success seems rare from one so young as you... I shall remember this. So you want to learn about Maphr? You should go and see Gauri Twinklerock of the Dwarven Village! I hope that you will find the light of truth at the end of your journey! Tejakar Pa'agrio!

Wanderer Dorf:

Maphr, the goddess of abundance and prosperity?! Foolish cattle, they don't know anything! Just look at the silly Dwarves in this town. They are mentally unbalanced, always dashing here and there to collect some more money. They are simply ridiculous! Miserable creatures who would even rip out their goddess' heart if it were worth money! And they don't hesitate to unearth things that should not be part of this world!

Maphr is indeed the goddess of abundance and prosperity, but that also means that she is responsible for all poverty and downfalls! Why can't you see this simple fact? They have already experienced bankruptcy once before... Tsk tsk...

Take this badge and take heed. Prosperity and poverty are just like the two sides of one coin!

You have earned Gray Badge.

Wanderer Dorf:

I have said everything that I intend to say. Now leave here and go learn of your precious Einhasad. You will probably have to go and see the Priest Primos of the Town of Giran!

Priest Petron:

Nahir... May his poor spirit rest in peace...

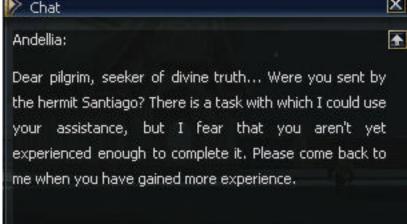

Thank you. Now I will tell you Nahir's story. He was once a faithful follower of Einhasad. But while he was helping his friend who was a follower of Shilen, he incurred Einhasad's wrath and was turned into a monster. Until this day he roamed the dark underground. Are you surprised to learn that Einhasad, who is known as the Goddess of sacrifice and life, has in fact the opposite traits of jealousy and destruction? Of course the High Priests only care to mention the side of sacrifice and life...

Such is the nature of the truth you seek. It's a bitter truth, isn't it? But that is not the end of the story. I am sure you seek the truth about Eva as well? In that case you should go and see Andellia of the Elven Village.

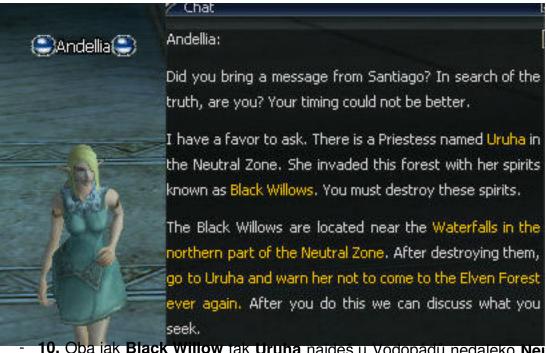

You have earned Statue of Einhasad.

Elder Casian:

Hello, my inquisitive friend. My name is Casian, known to some as 'the Sage of the Wastelands'.

The Elves and the Dark Elves that you have met have told you things that could be true or not. The nature of the gods is not known to mankind, and even they are only one small part of a very big universe... The gods each have a role to play. We cannot understand their intentions...

We shouldn't make things more difficult than they are. We must each just do the best we can and go about our daily lives....

I hope my lecture hasn't bored you. Take this book and return to Hermit Santiago. After all, this whole thing was his idea to begin with.

You have earned Book of Sage.

Hermit Santiago:

Ah, there's the glimmer in your eyes! You still have far to go and much to learn about the nature of truth, but this is a start.

Accept this Mark of Pilgrim, Remember, though, this is not the end of your studies. It is not even the beginning of the end. But it is, I perceive, the end of the beginning. Fare you well!

You have earned Mark of Pilgrim. Book of Sage has disappeared.
